Chair of The Board of Trustees, Lighthouse

Summary

Lighthouse is a forward-thinking contemporary culture agency based in Brighton in the UK, with an established history of working with exceptional artists and filmmakers, a fantastic building in the heart of the city, a rich and valuable network of collaborators – regionally, nationally and internationally - and a bright future.

Over the past four years Lighthouse has had a transformational period of growth, expanding in profile and reach and leading to major new international partnerships and high demand for our award-winning work. Our position is now firmly established as a regional and national leader in the fields of digital culture and film through our year-round programme and the established biennale Brighton Digital Festival which is celebrating it's 10th year.

Thanks to support through the Cultural Recovery Funding, Lighthouse is in a secure financial position and poised to enter an exciting and ambitious new phase of development to become a leading organisation that supports the connections between art, technology and society within the UK and across the globe. We are seeking to recruit a Chair to support us on this journey.

The current Chair of the Board is Anthony Mayfield, who is founder and CEO of Brilliant Noise. Now approaching the end of a successful five-year tenure with Lighthouse, Anthony will stand down as Chair in 2021.

We are looking for individuals with a passion for contemporary culture - specifically art, film and technology - and a range of skills and experience that may include fundraising, capital development, advocacy, philanthropy, data analysis, media relations, advertising and marketing as well as access to influential national and international networks.

We are keen for the Board to reflect the diversity of the communities we serve, so we particularly encourage expressions of interest from women, disabled people, LGBTQIA+ people from Black, Asian, diverse backgrounds and people who identify as coming from marginalised community groups.

Trustees are expected to attend an average of 5 - 6 meetings per year as well as attendance of our events in return for the opportunity to work with one of the UK's leading innovators of contemporary digital art and culture.

This Opportunity

The Chair of the Board will play an important and integral role supporting the next phase of development for Lighthouse and Brighton Digital Festival. This will require management of the Co-Directors and stakeholder advocacy across regional and national stakeholders. The Chair will benefit from working with a small but enthusiastic team on the strategic vision of the organisation, helping us to build our role as one of the most important and forward-thinking institutions to champion international contemporary culture in the UK.

A key focus of the next business planning phase, from 2022 - 2027, will be to connect more people to our programmes through initiatives that encourage dialogue and participation. This work will include examining the potential to evolve Lighthouse's physical presence, by developing a fit for purpose venue for world-class exhibitions, screenings and live events, either in our existing building or in new premises.

Our Ideal Candidate

You will be an experienced senior leader and/or chair from the public, corporate or third sectors. You will be comfortable working at a strategic level and happy to make effective use of your networks on behalf of Lighthouse. You will have a strong desire to contribute to evolving Lighthouse in its next phase, providing inspiration and guidance to the Trustees and Executive team and actively supporting artistic, commercial and fundraising activity.

You will already be someone who attends arts events and who is committed to building arts audiences. You may have past experience of leading a capital project for a cultural organisation, including advising on capital fundraising. A connection to Brighton or the South East of England would be an advantage but is not essential.
